

CNH Media Creation

CNH Media Creation serves as the storytelling and intellectual engine of the Consilium Novus Humanitas (CNH) movement—preserving history, shaping narrative, and elevating the voices that drive transformation in leadership, criminal justice reform, and social change.

Through a dynamic blend of documentaries, podcasts, books, and multimedia publications, CNH Media Creation captures the lived experiences, wisdom, and leadership insights of individuals who have shaped the fields of justice reform, restorative practice, and community empowerment.

Documentaries

Our documentary projects explore the real-life journeys of those impacted by the criminal justice system, reform advocates, theologians, community leaders, and visionaries who have contributed to the Exodus Concept and modern movements for social transformation. These films serve as powerful tools for education, advocacy, and public engagement.

Podcasts

The CNH podcast platform amplifies diverse voices—featuring conversations with returning citizens, scholars, faith leaders, policymakers, practitioners, and thought leaders. Episodes focus on leadership development, criminal justice issues, restorative justice, social enterprise, and the theology of liberation and human potential.

Books & Publications

CNH produces written works that range from historical reflections and leadership guides to research-based publications on criminal justice reform, community reintegration, and transformative pedagogy. These texts preserve the legacy of leaders like Rev. Edwin M. Muller, Dr. Lonnie McLeod, Julio Medina, and the many contributors to the Exodus movement, while advancing new ideas for future generations.

Digital & Media Outreach

CNH Media Creation also develops articles, visual content, and digital campaigns designed to educate the public, highlight success stories, and strengthen support for reform initiatives. Our media presence ensures that the narratives of justice, redemption, and renewal reach audiences locally, nationally, and globally.

CNH Media Creation exists to document truth, inspire leadership, and catalyze social transformation—one story, one voice, and one visionary idea at a time.
